

The Odd-Fellows Hall was built in 1904. Area contractors were used as much as possible in the construction. The building's first tenant was Rood & Young's clothing.	124	Bauman's	120-122	Kudart	118	Flower	116	Flower	114	Ben Franklin	Blend/Gemini	Bauman Residence	M.L. Ink remodeled the original building on this site, adding an exterior brick wall. In 1893, S.H. Bauman remodeled this building extensively to make much like it is today.
The Old Wilcox building was constructed in 1871 as a store room by Issac Wilcox. The building was built for T S Brokaw who later served as Post Master.													KEY
Mount Vernon's first bank was housed in this building by W.W. Dean & Co. in 1870, approximately one year after it was built by C. Kepler for a store room.
Built in 1894 by the Wolfe Bros., this block now stands where NW McKean served as post master from 1869-1873.													This building was built by the Wolfe Bros. in 1894. Constructed by C. Meeks, this building first housed A.L. Reid's barber shop and G Kubler's Restaurant.
This block was constructed in Feb. of 1869 by Wm. Hayzlett and Thomas Clark. A hard-brick facade was added after a bad fire which gutted but did not destroy the building. This has been the Masons' Home since 1915.													This building, now home to The SUN, was built by Henry A. Collin in 1891 for his banking business. Chas. Brackett bought the building for his clothing store in 1893. This block has been refinished to 1890's decor by Dennis Horrick.

The original building on this site was S.H. Bauman's in which the Mt. Vernon Hawkeye was printed. The present block was built in 1904 by the Kopf Bros..	110	Dance	108	Harrison	106	Pizza	104	Print	102	Act.	100	Traver	Smith-Hogle Block	This building was built by J. Smith and the Hogle Brothers in October, 1894 for Smith's Jewelry store and the Hoggles drug store. This building was built after a series of disastrous fires in 1893-94.
Humbolt Block was a joint venture of five area business persons completed in Aug, 1860 by Messrs Herman & Espe, with J. J. Buckstaler and a man named Zurcher. The original tenants were JJ Buckstaller's boot & shoe store (West) & W.B. Armstrong's clothing store. This is also called buckstaller block.													M.V. Bank Building	The Mount Vernon Bank was started in Jan., 1891 by Wm. Smith and Dr. Chas Carson, and the Mt. Vernon Bank Building was built by them for their business in the same year. This block is a fine example of area craftsmanship.
This building was built in 1894 by Chas. W. Kepler for a law office and store room. The original tenant was H.D. Butterfield's dry goods store.													Ware	The Post Office Building was completed in Sept., 1888 for then Post Master T.S. Brokaw by Messrs with Rood & Young.
This building was presumably built with the Gillett Hotel in 1869													Steve's	This building was built in 1881 by E.D. Waln for store rooms, offices, and apartments. The first tenants were Rood & Young Clothiers (West) and ET Gough, dry goods. This building represents the end of the first major phase of commercial building in Mt. Vernon
Here E.D. Waln built Mt. Vernon's first frame commercial block which burnt in 1868. In 1869, Harvey Gillett built his hotel which stands modified today.													Video
													Lee's

The Olliver Day Building was built in 1856, Mt. Vernon's oldest commercial building. It was built as for use as a general store, Dr.'s office and meeting hall. The third story was lost in a 1950's fire.													Wolfe-Ellison Block	Built in 1894, the Wolfe-Ellison Block is one of three buildings to be built after the fires of 1893-94 to share the Wolfe name. This building was designed by Messrs Joslyn & Talor of Cedar Rapids
													Randall's/Phisters	