

Writings From Myron Kibbee Neff on The Civil War

M. K. Neff
Sec

Who would have thought a few years since, that we should now be discussing the subject of war. Cruel, desolating and exterminating war? Which is so against the prosperity of any nation. What a name - whenever think of the dreadful calamities it has produced. of all the soil that has been stained by the blood of our fellow countrymen. of the vast and fertile plains that have been blasted by the hot breath of battle. of the immense number of soldiers graves that have been filled by many a brave heart who have left all the endowments of home to battle for their countries right and honor. All these are the direct results of war. The casualties of war are too familiar to all of us to dwell upon this as almost every household has

Writings From Myron Kibbee Neff on The Civil War

kept some news and dear friends but amidst all these solemn thoughts that arise in our minds there seems to be a strong conviction or an impression that peace is near at hand, although there are a great many things to discourage us in this belief notwithstanding these facts seem to justify the assertion that the cherished old flag ere long from the Atlantic to Pacific from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico shall in triumph wave over the land of the free and home of the brave. The armies of the south are continually growing weaker and weaker with no possible chance of recruiting them, its magazines are decreasing, foreign nations have ceased to respect her. The Union justly <sup>in the south</sup> is growing stronger daily all these show that South is retrograding instead of progressing while the Union still holds her own. Our ranks as soon as a gap is made is immediately filled up and our reserve strength will tell with wonderful effect on the depleted hosts of the rebellion.

Every thing anticipates a speedy restoration of the Union when the old ships of State will float on as smoothly as if nothing had ever crossed the tranquility of its course. And yet there are political croakers in the North who are continually speculating about the financial ruin of our country the repudiation of currency, general bankruptcy (and ending in the overthrow of their plans) but though the storm is hard it will be short and ere long the emblem of peace Liberty, De and everything pertaining to a free government will be thrown to winds showing to the world that it is truly a free nation

Writings From Myron Kibbee Neff on The Civil War

Text transcription of Myron Neff's Civil War writings

... = unknown word

K.M. Neff

Who would have thought a few years since, that we should now be discussing the subject of war. Cruel, desolating and exterminated war? Which is so against the prosperity of any nation. What a ... --when we think of the dreadful calamities it has produced. of all the soil that has been stained by the blood of our fellow countrymen. of all the crust and fertile plains that have been blasted by the hot breath of battle. of the immense numbers of soldiers graves that have been filled by many of brave heart who have left all the endearments of home to battle for their countries right and honor. All these are the direct results of war. The casualties of war are too familiar to all of us to dwell upon. This as almost every household has lost some news and decent friend but amidst all these solemn thoughts which arise in our minds there seems to be a shining conviction or an impression that power is now at hand although there are a great many things to discourage us in this belief notwithstanding these fuels seem to justify the assertion that the cherished old flag ere long from the Atlantic to Pacific from the Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico shall in triumph wave over the land of the free and home of the brave. The armies of the South are continually growing weaker and weaker with no possible chance of recruiting them. Its ... are decreasing. Foreign nations have ceased to respect her in the South. The Union party is growing stronger daily all these show what South is retrograding ... of programming while the Union still holds her own. Our ranks as sure as a gap is ... is immediately filled and our reserved strength will tell with youthful effect of the depleted hosts of the rebellion. Every thing indicates a speedy restoration of the Union when the old ship of state will ... on as smoothly as if nothing had ever ... its the ... of its course. And yet there are political croakers in the North who are continually speculating about the financial sum of our country the repudiation of currency. General bankruptcy (and ending in the overthrow of their plans). But though the storm is hard it will be short and ere long the emblem of peace Liberty ... and everything pertaining to a free government will be thrown to winds showing to the world that it is truly a free nation